

Some companies mentioned in my blog or appearing on my website may provide me with a sales commission or advertising fee. This compensation may influence the placement of the companies on my blog and/or site but does not influence my opinion or reviews.

I only partner with established and reputable companies whose products and/or services may be of particular interest to my clients and followers. Not all companies that provide these products and/or services appear in my blog or on my site. Further, not all companies appearing in my blog or on my site provide compensation to me.

I never share client or follower contact information.